

Gov. Orval Faubus

Gov. Faubus Accepts Summons To Court

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Sept. 10—Armed National Guardsmen pulled back from gates of the governor's mansion today long enough for Gov. Orval Faubus to be summoned to court 10 days from now and answer charges he is obstructing racial integration.

The governor, appearing solemn, walked down the steps of the mansion to take the court order from thin, gray-haired, affable R. Beal Kidd, a U. S. marshal.

This dramatic meeting ended earlier questions as to whether the National Guard would permit a marshal into the mansion grounds to serve a summons.

Undecided

As late as yesterday, the governor said he did not know whether he would accept service, but the Justice Department in Washington today said arrangements for him to accept the document were made with his attorney.

The court petition and order were the first concrete acts by federal authorities seeking to break the battle of wills in the nation's most serious challenge of federal powers.

U. S. Dist. Judge Ronald N. Davies issued the order on petition of Atty. Gen. Brownell. Judge Davies last night directed federal attorneys to write the petition.

Song

As the government acted, segregationist crowds, some singing "Dixie," rallied some of the old South, surged around two Little Rock area high schools. An effigy of a Negro was hung at one. At the other the crowd raced for a Negro reporter, whom the National Guard escorted to safety.

Also named in Davies' order were Maj. Gen. Sherman T. Clinger, adjutant general of the Arkansas National Guard, and Lt. Col. Marion E. Johnson, commander of a Guard unit at Little Rock Central High School.

At Faubus' direction the Guard has barred Negroes from enrolling in the school.

Faubus confirmed this later in an interview with newsmen during his first public appearance outside the governor's mansion since last Wednesday.

Reduction

He said a National Guard force—reduced from 200 to about 100—would continue to surround the school and prevent Negroes from enrolling. He said he cut the number of guardsmen because tensions have lessened.

Asked why he had not made a public appearance outside the mansion until the news conference, the governor replied: "For security reasons for one thing and others I couldn't discuss."

The governor said guardsmen would continue to patrol his mansion. He would not say whether he would appear personally in court for the hearing Sept. 20.

No Order

No temporary restraining order was issued, or asked, an unusual procedure in such cases. Judge Davies told Faubus and his subordinates to appear in court Sept. 20 for a hearing on a temporary injunction.

The judge can at that time set a hearing on a permanent injunction if he grants the temporary order.

This was interpreted by court aides as meaning the governor can keep the Guard at Central High School for 10 more days without federal interference.

Explosion Smashes Nashville Grade School

Eisenhower Shocked Over Bombing

NEWPORT, R.I., Sept. 10 (AP)—The White House said today President Eisenhower regards the Nashville school dynamiting as a terrible thing.

But the President, his chief spokesman said, intends to leave the solution of school integration disorders to legal procedures.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty, asked about the situation in Little Rock, Ark., where troops have been called out to stop Negro pupils from entering a school, noted the matter is in the hands of a federal court.

As to what happens next, "We'll have to wait and see," Hagerty said.

'Stand Up And Be Counted'

Industrial Furd At $9,652

CONTRIBUTIONS of $1,201—highlighted by $500 from the Metropolitan Edison Co.—yesterday brought to $9,652 the total donated or pledged in the $15,000 campaign of Monroe County Industries, Inc., for industrial expansion here.

Other contributions included $150 from Lester, Murray and Maynard Abelson and Sol Rothstein; $100 each from Hickory Valley Farm; Patterson-Kelley Co. and B. K. Williams Co.; $50 each from Cushman's Drug Store, Star Furniture Store, Knipe's and Leo Feinsilber; $25 each from Mac-Nichol's Sport Shop and Herman's Shoe Salon, and $1 from Judson L. Lee.

Funds from the drive, now in its fourth week, will be used to purchase a plot of land in which two industries have shown an interest.

The land will be sold to the firms and the proceeds placed in a revolving fund to be used for future industrial expansion.

Charles J. Marsh, president of the Stroudsburg Businessmen's Assn., and head of the merchants division of the drive, yesterday released the text of a letter sent to local businessmen urging their support of the drive.

It said in part:

"We have all criticized the Chamber of Commerce. This is their reply to our jibes. They have put time and effort into this project and it is certainly in our interest to back them 100 per cent."

"What is your share? Maybe we should think on how much we owe the community that keeps us in business. We could say too, how much will 25 new jobs increase my business opportunity? Anyway you look at it, we have a deep obligation to keep our community progressive."

Checks for the fund should be made payable to the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce. Contributions are tax deductible.

Lodge Battles To Keep Issue Alive

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Sept. 10 (AP)—U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge appealed to the United Nations today to keep alive the issue of Hungary's freedom. He declared this provides the only hope for reversing "the present grim course of events in that country."

In a 50-minute speech at the opening of the General Assembly meeting, Lodge lashed out at the Soviet Union for using military force to crush the Hungarian revolution. He accused the regime of Premier Janos Kadar of having a record of "promise and betrayal" in dealing with the Hungarian people.

Lodge urged the 51-nation Assembly to approve a resolution sponsored by 36 of its members which nominates Prince Wan Waihayakon of Thailand as a special representative to pursue U.N. objectives on Hungary.

These include withdrawal of Soviet military forces and restoration of democratic processes to the Hungarian people.

Assembly

Wan is president of the Assembly. He ruled against a move by Hungary at the outset to reject the report of the inquiry committee.

Hungary made the move after Keith C. O. Shann of Australia, summarizing the report of the five nation inquiry committee, told the Assembly use of Soviet force to "crush the aspiration of the Hungarian people for freedom is one of the tragedies of our times."

Lodge led off the debate on the report before a packed Assembly hall. The public galleries were filled to capacity.

He attacked the Soviet version of events in Hungary of last October as "the truth upside down."

He denied Soviet contentions that the troops were called in by Hungarian authorities to restore order.

Lodge listed eight different counts on which he said Kadar's Soviet-supported regime broke its promises to the Hungarian people. These included failure to obtain withdrawal of Soviet troops, abandonment of promises not to conduct reprisals against freedom fighters, and failure to establish a multiparty political system.

Lodge asserted that the Kadar regime reneged on promises to hold free elections, uphold the right to strike, put an end to Soviet plunder of Hungarian resources, and respect freedom of religion and the press.

He said the United States had a list of 1,768 individuals singled out for punitive action by the Kadar regime.

Kasper Among 26 Arrested In Police Net

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 10 (AP)—A blockbuster dynamite explosion smashed a newly integrated grammar school early today as racial tension continued to mount beneath an ironclad police clampdown on segregation demonstrations.

A total of 26 persons had been arrested by early evening. Among them was segregationist John Kasper who was taken into custody to make bond for some of his followers.

Almost simultaneously with Kasper's dramatic arrest an added irritant to mounting tension was provided by the report that a Negro had raped a white businesswoman in her store in suburban Madison.

Statements

Police said Kasper was arrested on charges based on inflammatory statements he made at a series of segregation rallies, the last of which he conducted from the State Capitol steps last night.

He was charged with disorderly and offensive conduct, vagrancy and loitering. G. H. Aikens, whom police identified as Kasper's bodyguard, also was charged with vagrancy and loitering.

Kasper made bonds totaling $1,000 and was immediately re-arrested for parking in a restricted zone. He made another $250 bond and was released.

Meanwhile there was no immediate indication that federal court here would act against Kasper as U. S. Dist. Judge Robert L. Taylor did at Knoxville in last year's violence at Clinton.

U. S. Dist. Atty. Fred Elledge Jr. said he and his agents conferred today with U. S. Dist. Judge William E. Miller, under whose orders the Nashville schools were desegregated.

He said, "no conclusion was reached. The FBI has not been asked for action. It is just observing."

Attendance

Police held demonstrators a block away from the six racially mixed schools as they opened to sharply slashed overall attendance at today's half-day session. All-day sessions began tomorrow.

Seven of those arrested were held for questioning in the expert dynamiting of the half-million-dollar Hattie Cotton school. Three were arrested when they refused to move from the vicinity of one of the schools.

Two others were arrested shortly afterward. Two teen-agers were arrested this afternoon in a car answering the description of one reported seen speeding away from the scene of the blast this morning. Officers said dynamite detonating wire was found in the trunk of the car and in the homes of some of the others arrested.

The first three arrested, whose car was reported to have contained a detonating device, were held under $25,000 bonds on weapons charges.

The explosion, which stopped the school clocks at 12:34 a.m., followed a day of steadily mounting violence accompanying admission of 15 Negro first graders to formerly all-white schools.

Only one Negro child was enrolled at Hattie Cotton, which is in a predominantly white neighborhood of East Nashville.

Little Rock Script Brings Loud Boos

WESTBURY, N.Y., Sept. 10 (AP)—Singer Fran Warren was booed tonight by a summer stock audience—because she kept to her script in a presentation of "South Pacific."

Playing Nellie Forbush, Miss Warren was asked where she was from.

"Little Rock," she replied, just as Rodgers and Hammerstein wrote it.

The audience boomed so long the show was stopped temporarily.

Dulles Feels Peace Will Win In Syria

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles expressed confidence today that the Syrian situation would be settled without war in the Middle East.

He also told a news conference it is unlikely American military forces would be called upon to intervene on behalf of any Middle East country fighting off a Communist attack.

If fighting does break out, he said, the countries involved could deal with it without assistance by American military forces.

Dulles spoke in an obvious effort to calm tensions set loose by the Syrian government's pro-Soviet moves of the past few weeks.

Calm Words

His calm words, however, contrasted sharply with alarmed comment made off the record by top Eisenhower administration leaders since Communists gained added influence within the Syrian army and government.

In talking with reporters today, Dulles even refused to describe the sudden airlift of American weapons to Jordan as emergency shipments. He took the view that these shipments were pre-programmed some time ago and that only the delivery had been stepped up.

"I can't tell what is going to happen there (in Syria)," he said. "The result depends upon a lot of factors and some of them are entirely beyond the control of the United States."

"Now I believe that the situation probably will work out. But . . . this is partly a belief based upon faith."

The secretary acknowledged that serious trouble might erupt in the Middle East and cautioned: "Certainly we do not believe, there or anywhere else, in peace at any price."

Dulles' optimistic view surprised many foreign diplomats as well as some of his top aides. Diplomats who have talked to him privately about Syria expressed the opinion his changed tone was mainly a diplomatic maneuver aimed at avoiding any automatic commitment that American troops would fight in the Middle East.

From The Readers Expresses Faith With $100 Check

Mr. John F. Hill, Editor The Daily Record Stroudsburg, Pa.

Dear Sir:

Up to date, I have omitted my name although I think I am a fairly good type of contributor as proven when Mr. Kasper solicited me for the General Hospital and received a $500 pledge.

My feeling is that consideration should be given to the folks already in business who may be "counted out" due to the proposed new thruway.

I am interested to find out what the business men of our community and the Pocono Mountain Chamber of Commerce will do to help the newly formed Delaware Water Gap Chamber of Commerce and these pioneers who have contributed so much to the good name of the Pocono Mountain area. To show my good faith I am sending a check of $100 to the Pocono Mountain Chamber of Commerce.

Reds Accuse Turkey Of Massing Arms

BEIRUT, Lebanon, Sept. 10 (AP)—The Soviet government accused Turkey tonight of massing troops along Syria's frontier as a tool of the United States.

Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko leveled the charge at a Moscow news conference. He warned that Syria has friends.

The Soviet Union cannot remain aloof "when Western imperialists wave torches of war along our frontiers," he said.

He added that Turkey by an unwise military action might plunge "over the precipice."

Reaction

There was a calm reaction in Turkey, the scene of consultations recently among the Turks, anti-Communist Arab leaders and U. S. Deputy Undersecretary of State Loy Henderson over Syria's leftist swing.

Authoritative sources in Ankara said the Turkish army usually holds frontier maneuvers at this time of year and some units may be engaged in routine exercises near the Syrian border, but these have nothing to do with the Syrian crisis.

A more abrupt response came from a Turkish source to a charge by the Soviet army newspaper Red Star that U. S. military units have landed in Turkey to support anti-Syrian moves.

"This," the Turk said, "is completely and purely imaginary."

In Washington, Secretary of State Dulles expressed confidence that the Syrian situation will be settled without war. He told a news conference that, if fighting does break out, the countries involved could deal with it without assistance by U. S. military forces.

Birmingham Under Uneasy Racial Peace

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 10 (AP)—Failure of Negroes to renew efforts to enroll at three all-white city schools and firm police control brought uneasy racial peace to Birmingham today.

Phillips High School was evacuated because of a bomb threat, but students were readmitted 40 minutes later when a search failed to uncover any explosives.

An angry white mob beat and drove back the Rev. F. L. Shuttlesworth when he attempted to enroll four Negro children at Phillips yesterday. The Negro integration leader announced he was confined to bed by his doctor's orders.

White crowds gathered around Phillips, Woodlawn High and Graymont Elementary before classes began today, but scores of police kept order except for a student demonstration at Woodlawn. These are the three schools to which eight Negro children have asked admittance.

Gathering

Woodlawn students began gathering about 6:30 a.m. and raised two Confederate flags on the school flagpole. Some 75 to 100 yelled "No Negroes will get by us" and threw rocks at passing cars and buses occupied by Negroes. Two figures were hung in effigy, one with signs reading "Stay out Niggers."

Driven from school property when police threatened to turn fire hoses on them, some of the Woodlawn students tried to launch a parade to Phillips.

A pickup truck and two cars with Woodlawn students reached Phillips, in the edge of the downtown retail district, but were turned back by police.

Rockies Hit By Taste Of Winter

By The Associated Press

THE NORTHERN Rocky Mountain area had a foretaste of winter yesterday with light snow and freezing temperatures.

Mostly, however, the nation's weather was seasonal—with considerable rain in the eastern half, and fair skies over most of the West.

Light snow fell at Lander and Cheyenne in Wyoming.

Temperatures ranged from an early morning 18 degrees at Fraser, Colo., 75 miles west of Denver, to the high 90s in the Southwest. Daytime readings elsewhere were generally in the 60s and 70s, with marks in the 80s over much of the South.

A cool air mass from a high pressure center near Hudson's Bay, Canada, was responsible, the Weather Bureau said, for the widespread cloudiness and light to moderate rains from the Central Plains and Great Lakes to the Middle Atlantic states.

Amounts were generally less than one-inch fall at Osceola, Mich. There was some thunderstorm activity in North Carolina and Maryland.

Freighter Hits Bay Dredge

COOS BAY, Ore., Sept. 10 (AP)—The Norwegian freighter Thor shall smashed broadside into a dredge at the mouth of Coos Bay on the southern Oregon coast this evening, the Coast Guard reported.

The dredge quickly sank. Survivors were reported clinging to the mast and superstructure which still were above water. The dredge carried a crew of 47.

Walter Calls For Caution On Activities

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—Chairman Walter (D-Pa.) of the House Committee on Un-American Activities today cautioned against any complacency by Americans about the present apparent confusion in the ranks of the Communist party of the United States.

Constant surveillance of the numerous Red-connected activities in the United States, he said, actually shows that the Communist conspiracy today "has more ramifications and is a greater threat than ever before in the history of this nation."

Walter spoke in a statement commenting on what he said was a claim by John Gates, editor of the Communist Daily Worker, that the Communist party is in dire straits.

up a hornets' nest," said one. "He's a real family man who can talk to children on their level." Mrs. Davies said of her husband, who is filling a temporary vacancy at Little Rock.

Not the type to pitter around the house and yard, Judge Davies prefers to spend his free time with the children or reading and listening to records—especially folk music.

"He has a passion for bridge and will stay up all night if the others are willing to go on playing," Mrs. Davies said. The judge will be "very disappointed" if he must miss the weddings of a son and daughter this month.

Judge Davies held only minor elective offices during his career. In 1932 he managed the campaign of Sen. William Langer (R-ND) in Langer's successful bid for governor of North Dakota.

The two had a falling out later and Langer once referred to Davies as "Little Sir Echo." The rift later healed and Davies had the support of Langer for his appointment to the federal bench.

Pocono Playhouse

'South Pacific' Receives Mixed Reaction During Opening Night

By Leonard Randolph
MOUNTAINHOME — "South Pacific" is probably the biggest sacred cow in modern American show business.

More people swear by this show than any other I can think of off-hand. It has become, in the space of time since it opened on Broadway to rousing audience and critical acclaim, almost a legend. Like many another myth it is something less than it is alleged to be.

No matter what my opinion of this over-romanticized and dramatically adolescent love story may be it has one superb thing to offer: A musical score by Richard Rodgers, which is magnificent and lyrics by Oscar Hammerstein which never fail to complement and enlarge the story line. If you're in love with this idyllic view of World War Two for its songs alone, you may very well like it anywhere no matter how expertly or badly it is done.

Opening

The musical opened Monday night at Pocono Playhouse for a two weeks run. It is probably the most difficult show, technically, the Playhouse has even undertaken. Jenna Stevens has spared no effort or expense to make the technical values of the show brilliant in nearly all respects. Donald Jensen's settings are excellent throughout and the hard-working crew has handled the almost insurmountable job of scene changes with extraordinary skill and precision.

Unfortunately the technical beauty of the production is marred by mediocre and, in some cases, amateurish lighting effects. Where harsh lights throw the shadows of actors on the backdrops (e. g. Bloody Mary's dejected shadow on the "mountain" Bill Hail) the entire illusion of the show is blown to bits.

It is probable that some of these flaws in lighting will be ironed out during the play's run. On opening night they were like something out of an ambitious but inadequate high school performance. Jensen's settings are beyond reproach and the collection of properties for the show—also a difficult task—has been handled remarkably well.

Before discussing the performance in the show as it is now being presented, I think we'd better clear up one matter. In any review of "South Pacific" an observer is likely to be accused of making what is generally termed "unfair comparison" of the present company with its original cast. No comparisons will be made here. I did not see the Broadway production with Mary Martin and Ezio Pinza. If some of the people in the Pocono production are not good, therefore, they arrived at this personal evaluation on my part through their own merits or lack of them.

Betty Jane Watson and Henry Michel are starred in the play as "Ensign Nellie Forbush" and the French planter "Emile DeBeque." I did not care for Miss Watson's performance at all. She has a good, standard singing voice but it has an unfortunate sameness of tone and inflection in all of the songs which makes her reprise of "Some Enchanted Evening" sound almost like an extension of "I'm Gonna Wash That Man Right Outta My Hair."

Movement
Miss Watson's least successful facet, however, is in stage movement. Her gestures and physical movements are repetitious and uninspired. And her interpretation of the part has an aura of coyness and a kind of mechanical line delivery which never convinced me "Nellie Forbush" was around.

Henry Michel's portrayal of "DeBeque" is excellent. Contrary to popular opinion this is not one of the great roles of the century. It is, as a matter of fact, a routine job of writing. Michel's singing voice is a beautiful one and I thought his version of "This Nearly Was Mine" was by far the best moment in the show.

Katherine Graves does a fine job with "Bloody Mary" both from the standpoint of singing and acting. Miss Graves has two of the show's best numbers—"Bill Hail" and "Happy Talk"—and she succeeds in establishing the right illusion and emotion in both. Ted Lawrie started vocally cold in his interpretation of "Lt. Cable" but when he warmed up to "Younger Than Springtime" he was fine. Lawrie has an annoying tendency toward throwing his head about and grimacing somewhat in the manner of an opera-trained tenor which is annoying in the love scenes, however.

Robert Page has done a fine job in directing the men's chorus. This portion of the cast was uniformly excellent in each of the scenes they dominate. The women's voices seemed lackluster and, in appearance, they looked considerably more like 42nd Street than a group of nurses on a stench-laden, oven-hot Pacific island. Don Wortman, Jack Parker and Austin Colyer were very good in minor roles.

The accompaniment by duopianists Victoria Crandall and Morland Kortkamp was good but the "South Pacific" score isn't exactly suited to twin pianos. Fred Pizzuto is the percussionist and he did a masterful job of handling the drums, vibes and tympany.

Prejudice
In its story "South Pacific" has a couple of pertinent and wonderful things to say about prejudice. In "Carefully Taught" Rodgers and Hammerstein have written an eloquent condemnation of ingrained bigotry which is passed down from generation to generation. Like all the other songs in the score it has been carefully and beautifully integrated.

But the whole concept of the play is romanticized pap. Its moment of "heroism" never seems to ring true. It is like the dramatic climax of a grade B war movie and it has been written without conviction or sincerity.

"South Pacific" won both the Pulitzer Prize and the Critics Circle Award in 1950. Time has done nothing to dim the beauty or effect of its music. So far as the present production is concerned if you can get along without "Nellie" the chances are good that you'll have an enjoyable time.

Disposal Of Trash In East Borough

EAST STROUDSBURG residents will be given free trash disposal service by the borough on Sept. 25, 26 and 27.

This service is part of "Fall Clean-Up Days." The period was officially designated last week at a meeting of Borough Council.

According to a local announcement being run in this morning's issue of The Daily Record the borough will pick up trash or discarded items on this schedule:

Wards
Wards 1 and 2 — Wednesday, Sept. 25; Wards 3 and 4 — Thursday, Sept. 26; Wards 5 and 6 — Friday, Sept. 27.

Borough officials urge residents to "check in attics, basement and around yards" for articles they no longer wish to keep. All discarded material should be placed at the curb in front of the home on the day designated for that ward.

Further information may be secured by calling Borough Secretary Sterling Cramer at 843.

Accountants To Receive Banner Of Achievement

PAUL M. HERRING, national vice president of the National Association of Accountants, will present a banner of achievement to the Lehigh Valley Chapter at the first technical session to be held Friday at 6 p.m. at Hotel Easton.

The chapter will receive the banner for having obtained 10th position in the national competition against 131 chapters during the past year ended May 31.

President Herring, representing national president, Harold W. Scott and the national board of directors, is a past president of the Reading Chapter and presently holds the position of vice-president and controller of the Kutztown Foundry and Machine Co., Kutztown. He has been a national director in 1954-56 and has addressed both regional and national cost conferences.

Speaker for the occasion will be Colin Park, partner of Has-kins and Sells, certified public accountants of New York.

LONDON, Sept. 10 (AP) — British nutrition experts J. M. Harries and T. F. Hughes were commissioned by the Ministry of Food and Agriculture to inquire into appetites of expectant mothers.

They found that 187 of 1,000 questioned have cravings for inedibles such as coal; others craved soap, toothpaste, white wash, wall plaster, mustard, pepper, salt, spices, pickles, uncooked cereals such as oats and rice, etc.

The experts figured cravings for inedibles may reflect mineral or vitamin deficiencies induced by pregnancy.

Monroe County's Grand Jury Announces Eight True Bills

Freedom Granted In Five Cases

MONROE COUNTY'S Grand Jury yesterday returned eight true bills and found no true bills in five other cases in a report to Judge Fred W. Davis.

Thomas R. Swortwood Jr., of 300 Parrish St., Wilkes-Barre, was indicted for involuntary manslaughter in the death on May 7 of Edward L. Melisky, 517 Cedar Ave., South Scranton.

Melisky was fatally injured in a two-truck collision on Route 611, two miles south of Mount Pocono.

Other action by the grand jury included:

A true bill on James Norris, East Stroudsburg, charged with assault and battery; a true bill on Fred Storm, Stroudsburg RD 1, charged with assault and battery and a no true bill on a more severe charge of aggravated assault and battery.

Charles Harry Smith, Lehigh-ton, true bill on a charge of assault and solicitation to commit sodomy, and a true bill on three counts of indecent exposure; John W. Kistler, Cresco, RD 1, a true bill on two counts of selling liquor on Sunday and no true bill on charges of setting up and maintaining gambling devices and permitting gambling on the premises.

Henry Koren, 21 Greenbriar Rd., Levittown, a true bill on a charge of issuing a worthless check on Jan. 25, 1956, to the Nash Manufacturing Co. The check was drawn on the Stroudsburg Security Trust Co.

Gilbert L. Silfee, Star Route, Bartonville, a true bill on a charge of assault and battery. Complainant was Anna Silfee.

Robert E. Lee, 56 W. Broad St., East Stroudsburg, no true bill on a charge of corrupting the morals of a child.

Frank Bogert, East Stroudsburg, RD 1, no true bill on charges of assault and battery.

Henry Richard Tyler, 2345 Bassford Ave., Brooklyn, N.Y., no true bill on charges of assault and battery.

East Bangor School Board Makes Issue

EAST BANGOR — This borough's school board this week voted to ask reactivation of a four-district jointure. The board is opposing a State-recommended seven-district State Belt combination of schools.

Involved in the smaller district would be East Bangor, Portland, Washington and Upper Mount Bethel. All four boards contend they can operate a joint school program of their own.

At present high school students from the four districts attend schools in Stroudsburg, East Stroudsburg, Pen Argyl and Bangor on a tuition basis.

Potential Costs
Board members heard a report on potential costs, by district, for the construction of a proposed $1,600,000 high school building. It would be part of the larger, seven-district jointure's plans.

The report showed that tax rates would be increased as follows if the building were constructed: Bangor, up seven mills; East Bangor, up four mills; Lower Mount Bethel, up nine mills; Portland, up six mills; Roseto, up eight mills; Upper Mount Bethel, up six mills; Washington, up five mills.

McDonnell Resigns From YMCA Post

THE resignation of William A. McDonnell as boys' work secretary and Barrett Branch executive was accepted with regret last night by the Monroe County YMCA board of directors.

McDonnell resigned, effective at the end of this month, to accept other employment. He had held the position two years.

The officers were authorized by the board to interview applicants to fill the vacancy and to name a successor.

John R. Wilson, general secretary, announced that the gymnasium floor had been refinished and minor repairs made to the YMCA building in preparation for the Fall and Winter program starting next Monday.

He said the association had experienced its busiest Summer in history. A large number of children and adults took advantage of the swimming instruction offered in the YMCA pool. An innovation that proved highly successful, Wilson said, was the play school for children five through eight years of age. The class met daily and attracted 135 different youngsters.

Recommendation
The directors accepted a recommendation of the physical department committee that a full-time physical director be hired to integrate activities in the gymnasium and the swimming pool. Until the appointment is made, the job will be handled by temporary employees who are qualified to do the work. The board felt that, in any event, the duties should be carried on as efficiently and thoroughly as the budget will permit.

Board members commended the entire staff for the outstanding program carried out during the past year and complimented the officers and workers for the fine condition of the building.

Thomas Kistler, treasurer, reported pledges totaling $15,907.76 were made to the building fund during the special drive last Spring. Of this amount, $11,892.76 has been collected. The campaign was conducted in an effort to erase the building fund indebtedness that amounted to about $30,000.

Upon the recommendation of James T. Kitson, chairman of the boys' work committee, the board voted to play host to the older boys' conference of the Central-East and Philadelphia Districts of the State YMCA. The sessions will be held Dec. 6, 7 and 8 and will attract nearly 250 boys to the community. Kitson's committee will arrange accommodations for the boys in private homes. They will eat most of their meals at the YMCA and in local churches.

Rev. Harold MacMurray was appointed by Alex Bensinger, president, as chairman of the YMCA Week observance Jan. 19-26.

The Mothers' Club and the Women's Auxiliary were reported ready to participate in a number of major projects during the coming season.

Moonshiners Reportedly Hurt

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—The revenuers boasted today they've got the moonshiners on the run.

"We're hurting them, there's no question about it," said one official of the Internal Revenue Service. "We know they're hurting, because they're screaming that we're not playing fair."

Bear Kills Two Sheep

ECHO LAKE — A bear, and one of sizeable moundage, killed one and made off with a second sheep here on a farm owned by Herbert Overfield sometime early Sunday morning.

Overfield set the time of damage at "in the vicinity of" 3 a.m. Sunday.

The two sheep, each weighing approximately 200 pounds, according to Overfield, were contained in a pen near the house. The bear battered down the fence, killed one sheep and made off with the second.

No Trace

No trace of the missing sheep has been found, although tracks of the bear have been located. The incident has been reported to authorities.

Miss Audrey LaBar, a friend of the Overfield family, saw a bear in the vicinity early last Wednesday morning.

This is the second time a bear has killed a sheep in this vicinity.

County Represented At Session

AMONG THE more than 100 members of the Recorders of Deeds Association now attending the annual Association convention in Easton is Floyd Butz, Monroe County register and recorder.

Deputy register and recorder Kathryn Bush also attended yesterday's session of the convention.

Butz was recently elected president of the Pennsylvania State Register of Wills Assn. Although the two posts are often held by the same man in Pennsylvania counties the traditional two organizations are maintained on a Statewide basis.

Closing

The three-day convention of the RDA opened Monday at Hotel Easton. It closes today. Highlights of the session today will be committee reports on legislation. Officers will be elected and installed this afternoon.

Main speaker at tonight's closing banquet will be Judge William G. Barthold of Northampton County Court.

Increases Needed

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 10 (AP)—An emergency federal tax hearing was held today that milk price increases of 40 cents to $1.10 a hundredweight were necessary to offset drought losses and the high cost of cattle feed in four eastern states.

Hearing In Bangor Case Postponed

BANGOR—Last night's hearing for William D. Scott, superintendent of the Blue Ridge Textile Co., and Gordon Frey, company employee, scheduled before Peace Justice Raymond Traves, was postponed.

Traves said the hearing was delayed because Officer Walter Heard, the complainant, is hospitalized. Scott and Frey are free on bail on charges they drove through a crowd of pickets outside the mill during a labor walkout last spring.

Awaiting Word

Traves said he is awaiting word from Atty. James F. Pritchard before issuing warrants for the re-arrest of three men accused of causing a disturbance at the Bangor Memorial Park Swimming Pool during July.

The trio, Samuel Spagnola, Philip Vicario and Philip Racalato, appeared at a hearing before Traves two weeks ago, but the information was thrown out on a technicality brought out by their attorney, Edmund P. Turzto.

Pritchard has said all three will be arrested on the same charge. Pritchard is acting in the absence of Borough Counsel J. Lawrence Davis, who is out-of-town on business.

Delegation To Visit Harrisburg

BANGOR—A five-man delegation representing the Bangor Area Joint School Committee will leave today for Harrisburg to defend itself before the State Dept. of Public Instruction against what it feels are unwarranted charges of delay in establishing the jointure.

The delegation will include School Supts. Donald B. Keat, Dr. Trevor Williams, Bangor High School principal; Marvin DeFamphills, president of the seven-district jointure; Donald Creighton, president of the Bangor Area Joint School Committee, and John Finelli, committee member from Roseto.

Statement

The group will present to state officials a statement in answer to a letter from the Northampton County board of school directors, dated Aug. 28, in which the latter board asks three questions, among them, "Why your board failed to re-activate the seven-district jointure program before July 1, 1957?"

The lengthy statement concludes with the declaration of the committee that the Bangor Area Joint School System "wishes to reiterate its longstanding and unbending position for and towards the formation of the jointure as prescribed in the present county plan or any other they may be deemed appropriate by our commonwealth for the educational advancement of our youth."

It is signed by Edmund P. Turzto, solicitor for the committee.

Rev. Durkin To Direct Clergy Lunch

REV. HAROLD G. Durkin, pastor of St. Matthew's Parish, will be toastmaster at a special luncheon for Pennsylvania Roman Catholic clergymen in Scranton Friday, Sept. 20 at noon.

The luncheon will be held in Hotel Casey main dining room. It will be a main feature of the Third Regional Congress of the Fraternity of Christian Doctrine.

The East Stroudsburg pastor will introduce the important guests and visitors attending the luncheon. Included among them will be four or five of the bishops from dioceses throughout the State.

Delegation
Father Durkin will head the delegation from St. Matthew's parish to the Congress. It is one of the largest and most ambitious conferences of its kind ever scheduled by the Philadelphia Province of the Roman Catholic Church in America.

During recent years the Fraternity of Christian Doctrine has aroused a new and deeper sense of the significance of the laity within the church. Officials believe that coordination of work done within parishes by both the priesthood and lay members of the faith is now at a new peak in the U. S. history of the church.

The three-day conference in Scranton is designed to show lay members, clerics and nuns the many ways in which they may work together toward an expression of God's truth for mankind in modern society.

Arrangements Made For U.N. Trips

ARRANGEMENTS have been made by Miss Lillian Stark, Stroud Union High School teacher, for two student and one adult trips to the United Nations in October.

Miss Stark said last night that "all adults in Monroe County are invited to take part in the visit to the UN if they so desire." The Social Studies instructor said that the UN trip for men and women is set up for Wednesday, Oct. 16.

The bus will leave the community at 6:45 a.m. and will return at night. Miss Stark said, "We need at least 37 persons to sign up for the trip," Miss Stark announced.

Contact

Adults who wish to make the trip may contact Miss Stark at the Stroud Union High School, during school hours. Miss Stark will provide further information concerning the trip when contacted by interested persons.

Student trips have been arranged for Tuesday, Oct. 8 and Tuesday, Oct. 15. Miss Stark said. Those making the trip will tour the UN building and will have an opportunity to "sit in" on important international discussions.

ROGER G. SHICK, a graduate of Stroudsburg High School, has purchased a funeral home in Keene, N.H.

Shick purchased the home from Charles F. Fletcher, who has owned and operated it for the past 27 years.

Shick has been employed as an embalmer and funeral director by Fletcher for the last seven years.

Shick is also a graduate of the American Academy of Embalming of New York in 1940 and is licensed for New York, Vermont, and New Hampshire.

Shick is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Shick, 1180 West Main St., Stroudsburg.

Two Suffer Injuries In Accident On Route 209

TWO PERSONS were slightly injured in an accident involving two cars and a truck on Route 209, two miles west of Stroudsburg, at 3:15 p.m. yesterday.

State Police of the Stroudsburg barracks identified them as Thomas Conway, 21, of 41 Point View Drive, and Paul F. Brown, 20, of 2618 Lavin Court, both of Troy, N.Y.

Conway sustained a lacerated right knee and Brown suffered a bruised left knee and right side of the head. Both were to see their personal physicians.

Passengers
The pair were passengers in a car driven by Thomas W. McNamee, 21, of 24 Centerview Drive, Troy, which was struck in the rear by a truck driven by Russell A. Kresge, 47, of Saylorsburg.

The impact forced the McNamee vehicle into a car driven by Eugene Mutchler, 31, of 172 Elizabeth St., East Stroudsburg.

Police said the McNamee and Mutchler cars were stopped behind a school bus.

Post Office May Change

THE ROSETO Post Office is being considered as a substitution of the Bangor Post Office. If the change is made Roseto will have two letter carriers.

There are no letter carriers in the town at the present. The public is served through mailboxes at the post office. Peter Renaldo, Roseto Postmaster, operates a hardware store in conjunction with the Post Office.

Watch For School Buses

Now that all of Monroe County's schools are back in session, motorists should be reminded to obey Pennsylvania's vehicular code with respect to passing school buses.

The school bus law says vehicles traveling in either direction on two or three-lane highways must stop when a school bus is loading or discharging passengers.

On a four-lane divided highway motorists must halt when overtaking a stopped school bus. Drivers approaching in the opposite lane must slow down to 15 miles per hour.

This is a law which has teeth in it. The 1957 Legislature decreed that motorists convicted of illegally passing a stopped school bus shall be liable to imprisonment for 10 days or fines ranging from $25 to $50.

O. D. Shipley, director of the Bureau of Highway Safety, said fully 2,400,000 Pennsylvania children are riding or walking to school every day. One out of every four rides to classes in a bus; the other three walk to school.

The student enrollment adds up to just 2,400,000 reasons why every driver in this Commonwealth should be alert and considerate every moment he is operating his automobile.

And motorists should give careful consideration, too, in built-up areas during off-school periods. The National Safety Council said 1,153 children between five and 14 were killed while walking or playing in the streets last year. In the same age group, 350 were killed while riding their bicycles.

These were in addition to the 1,150 school-age children who died while riding in automobiles that became involved in accidents.

Parents, of course, must teach their children to be careful when crossing the streets and while playing along or near the highways. But motorists must accept the larger responsibility by abiding by all rules of traffic safety.

Opinions Of Other Editors

Impotent Authority

The basic self-delusion of the authority technique for handling public improvements is laid on the line in the present difficulties in which the Philadelphia Parking Authority finds itself.

The authority wants to build garaging for 2,000 cars. The city needs that much off-street parking and a great deal more. This requires money, lots of money.

The authority has been trying to borrow it, and has found out as many a private citizen has discovered, that money is "tight" and interest rates up. The authority garages won't be feasible unless the rate can be held down. The rate won't be unless the city's credit is used. And if the city is going to use its own credit, who needs an authority?

The joker is that in authoring financing, the "full faith and credit" of some taxing unit, such as a state or city, must be in the wings. Without this backstop of potential funds, the authority loses its preferred position. Even with it, interest rates are higher than if the taxing unit operated without pirouetting around constitutional debt limitations.

The authority, in one form or another, is a useful device when it straddles state lines to do something that can't be done piecemeal. Otherwise it is primarily a financial dodge. One, it appears, which doesn't always work.

—Philadelphia Bulletin

Robert S. Allen Reports...

Look Ahead To College

By Dr. Howard L. Davis, President-elect, Ohio State University and Chairman, The President's Committee on Scientists and Engineers, Washington, Sept. 16—This month, the doors of our overcrowded schools will be opened to the greatest influx of young minds in our history.

The majority will finish high school. Most graduates will then want to go on to college. But, unless they receive proper guidance, a tragically large number of college entrants will learn—too late—that wrong decisions made as early as the eighth or ninth grade have closed the door to their future.

If you are the parent of a child entering high school this fall, sit down with him now. Talk over his hopes and dreams and relate them to his studies. Don't—even if he is not now thinking of college—let him short-change himself by taking easy courses merely to "get by."

Decisions made during the next few weeks can be the most important of his lifetime. It may sound odd to say that 12 or 13 is the time for a youngster to begin shaping his career. But in many of the specialized professions—particularly engineering and the sciences—educators generally agree that fundamental decisions should be made in the eighth or ninth grade.

By the time this year's crop of 13-year-olds reaches college age, admission requirements will have become increasingly stringent.

College enrollments are expected to double by 1970. Our colleges and universities simply are not going to be able to keep up with the increased applications. Students with the ability to profit from a college education, but who lack the preparation for it, will find the doors closed to them.

They need the right advice at the right time: NOW! What should that advice be?

Although we require more and more skilled talent in every profession and industry, we are faced with a particular need for scientists and engineers. As Chairman of the Committee appointed by President Eisenhower to seek ways of solving this desperate national shortage, I would tell a 13-year-old the following: "Not all young people have the same potential for professional education. Talk over your goals with your teacher, your guidance director, and your parents. If possible, take tests to determine whether you have the ability and desire for college-level work. "Choose college preparatory courses unless they are entirely out of your interests and aptitudes. Only these courses are generally acceptable to colleges. Companies offering apprenticeship training also prefer them. So do technical institutes, business colleges, and junior colleges. College preparatory courses may be a bit more difficult, but they can also be more stimulating. Even if you think you cannot go to college, these courses will give you more freedom to choose what you want to do after you graduate from high school. "If you hope to become a scientist or engineer, buckle down to mathematics from the very beginning. Perhaps you have no technical ambitions. Even so, don't avoid mathematics. Study as much as you can absorb, for just about everything in the world around you requires the use of math.

"Science is mandatory for the future professional. It is important, too, to the average student. America's young people need grounding in the sciences to better understand the world they live in—and thus to become more stable, more productive, and better informed citizens. "You need to be good in English, too. The scientist and engineer must communicate ideas and instructions clearly to others. English is the language you use every day. No matter how difficult English and grammar may be for you, try to master them. "Finally, when you are deciding on the courses you will take in high school, do not choose them because someone says they are easy. Choose the studies that will enable you to do what you want to do."

If, in giving this advice, I sound a note of urgency, it is because we live in urgent times. The technical age that confronts us with the benefits of petrochemicals, radiostopes, electronics and automation... as well as the threat of nuclear annihilation... is reaching out for the trained mind with offers of unprecedented opportunity. We cannot afford to waste the brainpower of a single child with a high potential—for skilled brainpower is our most precious national asset.

Congress In Retrospect

Out of all the oratory and untimely politeness which reads so stilted in the "Congressional Record," it is clear that the leadership of both the Republican and Democratic Parties is conservative and that the liberal elements in both parties coalesce as though they were one party.

What was displayed during the discussion, let us say, of the "Save-the-FBI-Files" bill was that Senators Morse (Democrat), Clark (Democrat), Cooper (Republican), and Javits (Republican), all so-called liberals, were working as a team against the bill and acting as though they belonged to a separate and distinct political party.

And, of course, those who come within the orbit of the A. D. A. are of a separate and distinct party, no matter what label they wear as they emerge into positions of distinction. In effect, there are three political parties in Congress, the Republican Party, the Democratic Party, and the A. D. A. which might be termed a Socialist party as the British Labour Party is a Socialist party.

The Republican Party is split between the Conservatives and the Moderns. President Eisenhower does not recognize the cleavage and that is his misfortune because he has recognized it and dealt with it properly, there would have been no cleavage. That, however, no longer matters, as he will be far from politics in three years and will be decreasingly political during the intervening period. The vote of Congress on a number of measures indicates the President's decreasing capacity to lead his own party.

The cleavage, however, does matter to such ambitious men as the Vice President, Richard Nixon, and Senator William Knowland, each of whom will be a candidate for President, and for the large number of Modern Republicans who have emerged from the New Deal to manage a party which they opposed prior to 1952 and from which they will be booted out should Sherman Adams cease to be the Mayor of the Palace. It does not matter to those businessmen who developed an in with the Eisenhower Administration and who, during the next three years, will surely become targets for attacks not only by Democrats and A. D. A.

elements but by Conservative Republicans who refuse to forget how the businessmen betrayed Senator Robert A. Taft and how they turned on Senator Joe McCarthy and how they subsidized and financed the very groups that are working for the destruction of the capitalist system which benefited them but which no longer means to them free, competitive enterprise, but government subsidies and government contracts to keep them out of bankruptcy.

The cleavage within the Democratic Party is not very different in spirit, although the Mason and Dixon Line complex alters the situation somewhat. Northern Democrats divide as the Republicans divide, but Southern Democrats are too absorbed in the problems of states rights and integration to worry about much else. Out of this session of Congress, Lyndon Johnson has emerged as the principal figure, a capable leader who has cleverly so restrained the opposition that it has succeeded in winning most of the advantages from legislative victories.

However, Johnson has suffered from a heart attack and whether the country will want to risk having another cardiac in the White House will develop over the next three years. As it stands now, the Democrats have only one other candidate, John Kennedy, Adlai Stevenson having expended himself beyond recourse.

The so-called Liberal Democrats, particularly in the Park Avenue canyons of New York and in the Bohemian Greenwich Village, still regard Stevenson as some kind of intellectual Brigham Young who will lead them into the desert of great hope. But that is dying out, too.

John Kennedy has shown himself to be a politician of capability and he has a strong sense of public relations, his current publicity being the best in recent years. He has a youthful outlook and an independent pocketbook, which matter greatly.

It is observable that the Liberal Democrats seem to be angered by the course of events and play at small games which often remind one of the little intrigues practiced by fellow-travelers in the 1930's to make them appear like great figures in the Revolution. But the fact is that the Communists never admitted them into the party. No matter how great their activity, they were always outsiders. In many respects, A. D. A. Democrats remain outsiders, resisted but used by the professionals.

Try and Stop Me—by Bennet Cerf

There was a State Fair in the Middle West where interest ran high in the award for the champion bull. Two entries were already famous in those parts and feeling ran high on which would win out, this one.

The crowd cheered, the blue ribbon was pinned on his selection, and then the chairman asked, "Why did you choose the one you did?"

The governor's son answered, "Because I think he'll give the most milk."

"A boy becomes a man at 21," said out Charles Ruffing, "whereas a girl becomes a lady at a moment's notice."

Richard Armour, one of the greatest living authorities on the Garden of Eden, declares that before the creation of Eve, sex probably was at its lowest ebb. One day, however, Adam was ribbed—and there stood Eve, inquiring immediately, "Where are you going to take me for dinner?"

I'm hungry," That's why, says Armour, Adam called her Hungry for days, before discovering her name really was Eve.

A woman nearing 80 signed up for a secretarial course in the Midwest. "I'm determined to read my husband's diary," she explained. "For 59 years he's been keeping it in shorthand."

The Pennsylvania Story

Control Over Schools

By Mason Denison Harrisburg—The educational field in Pennsylvania is big business—it takes more than half of the taxpayer's General Fund dollar to underwrite the cost from the state level.

With this tremendous fiscal layout, should the state pick up a greater share of administrative responsibility over local districts?

Has it been lagging in this field?

These are two questions that have plagued educators over the years—more particularly in recent years.

Historically up to this point the State Department of Public Instruction has maintained a middle-of-the-road attitude—loath to "force" itself upon local school districts more than absolutely necessary.

Currently there is a movement afoot to reverse this trend in certain areas at least—to strengthen the hand of the department.

The pattern was perhaps basically established by Welfare Secretary Harry Shapiro who took the bull by the horns and literally started running from Harrisburg his thirty-odd state-owned institutions for the first time in Pennsylvania's history.

Backed up by law which has neutralized the once powerful institution boards of trustees, Shapiro has yanked up many an institution by its bootstraps in a spirited effort at least to gain higher minimum standards for all institutions rather than the few which heretofore were able to forge ahead on their own.

This is the pattern that is being toyed with by many of the top officials in the Department of Public Instruction.

The difference lies in the fact that the department does not have the statutory go-ahead as enjoyed by the Welfare Department.

This is perhaps destined to be most strongly felt in the field of school district consolidations.

Historically the department has "urged" such mergers and encouraged moves of this nature wherever and whenever possible.

However there never has been any clear-cut decree to the effect that such mergers must be carried out. In the first place, the department doesn't have the legal right to force an outright merger by direction.

The first out-in-the-open bold step in this direction came early this year when the administration proposed a cut-down from the present 67 county districts to some two score "regional administrative units."

Backed solidly by the hierarchy in the Department of Public Instruction and opposed as vigorously by many a local district throughout the state—the plan died a-borning in the Legislature.

Unruffled by this legislative rebuff there are those within the department apparently determined to force the issue on a smaller scale with local districts.

Instead of a complacent urging for consolidation of school districts (in line of course with "county plans" approved by the State Council of Education but not yet consummated by local districts) the department apparently is determined to force the merger in a second fashion.

The pattern is amazingly simple: where a lone school district has not yet joined a projected jointure, approval of proposed new construction plans are being withheld by the department—the inference being: join up with the planned jointure, or else.

Pennsylvania lawmakers would do well to take a long hard look in the 1959 session to determine whether this administrative agency is overstepping its legislatively-mapped bounds. Knuckle-rapping otherwise might well become the order of the day.

Good Evening Ladies!

Add Equal Lefts To Rights

By Ken Duval A Milwaukee man sued two wives for divorce, charging that each one beat him black and blue. A Hillywood cowboy actor charges his wife with breaking his nose with her fist and I've seen this guy take on four outlaws and a rehanded.

lick them all without musing his hair. Two cases are pending in my home town courts in which husbands allege their wives practiced various kinds of mayhem on their persons.

In a letter to a lovelorn column, a lady correspondent tells how she has kept her marriage intact for years by laying hold of any piece of bric-a-brac that is handy and bouncing it off her husband's head. Any time he gives her trouble. From Miami, a lady writes me, enclosing a clipping from a magazine in which a psychiatrist says a reasonable amount of violence by a wife is good for a marriage and she concurs.

Well, I suppose all this is the final step toward full emancipation of women and if they can shove us men off our bar stools they can beat us up. I now await the news from our police reporter that some husband has charged his wife with beating him, then refused to prosecute because he loves her. In the good old days, it was the other way around.

Now that women are adding equal lefts to their equal rights, it behooves a man to find out before marriage whether his bride was educated in a finishing school or Stillman's gymnasium. What he needs to know is whether she reacts with the old familiar weaknesses, such as tears, pouting or threats to go home to mother, or whether she feints with her left and follows through with a right jab.

The Acid Test By simulating certain situations common to married life, a man might get some inkling of what is in store for him. He could, for example, arrange to meet his intended on a certain corner, then arrive late, smelling like Jake's Place on a hot summer night. He should approach her warily, bobbing and weaving and with chin well and good. If she swings, there's always a Navy recruiting station handy.

Of course, if she swings and the man loves her too much to give her up, there is the business men's physical culture classes at the Y.M.C.A. where he can take lessons in the art of self-defense and get in shape for his marriage. But he'd never dare let down. There would have to be hours of grueling road work and rope-skipping. Still, if the marriage is based on true love it could last until the wife is well past her prime and willing to hang up the gloves.

It could be that, because I am a frightened man and all shook up by what I've read on this subject and what you ladies write me, I have exaggerated the situation somewhat. Won't some kind ladies write and tell me it isn't so? After all, I'm puny compared to that certain party, whose name I am forbidden ever to mention here, and have always been a sucker for a right to the jaw.

The Once Over

by H. I. Phillips

By the time this appears Harold Craig, the "brain of the farmlands" will have taken his $104,000 jackpot winnings on "Twenty-One," a top video quiz program or decided to go forward in the cause of home-reading, a zest for knowledge, and recognition of the fact that in many a cornfield and cow barn there lurks a threat to college educations. On the last program on which we saw this farmboy with a skinny public school education, he had defeated still another intellectual, and had won more than a hundred "grand." During the summer this lad, who really resides in North Hebron, N. Y., a village of 35 people, just outside Granville, had topped every "egghead" sent in against him. College faculty members, authors, and Oxford students had proved pushovers.

If he hasn't taken his loot at this writing he deserves billing not only among such as the Van Dorens of the quiz world but among such gamblers as "Bet A Million" Gates and "Philadelphia Phil." We are less astounded by the brains shown on higher type quiz shows than by the reckless spirit of the program. Our records reveal no crap shooter, horse player, poker player or gin rummy genius going for $20,000 a point, yet this farmboy, like so many others on TV programs, went for it with the nonchalance of a fellow risking a nickel in a game of marbles. When $84,000 ahead he cheerily risked a round of questions which would have cost him almost his winnings. This reflects an amazing trend of the day and puts some conservative people in a position where they make the notorious plunkers of history seem bush-league.

Mr. Craig comes of humble folks, has always had to work hard and would probably run bucket-buckety from any dice game, roulette wheel, "red dog" operation or even "bingo." Yet he takes a chance on losing $20,000 and more in the twinkling of an IQ.

We think the North Hebron farmhand will make some big dough in the amusement world, after his quiz performance. He possesses not only the likeable qualities that have put other quiz winners in show business, but has one of the greatest assets show business has ever known... a Jimmy Durante schmozzle. The Craig proboscis outpoints Jimmys. It is the "beak" of the quiz show year. Producers of the Durante TV shows would do well to put Craig on in a scene with Jimmy. While Durante is the well-dressed man, Harold is the well-dressed "brain." There were moments during the quiz ordeal when Craig seemed to reflect the "Didja ever have a feelin' ya wanted to go, an' still have a feelin' ya wanted to stay," a mood immortalized by Durante. Jimmy should put Harold on a show if only to prove his lifelong claim that the schmozzle is a proof of smartness and that it is mutiny to possess a short bezer.

Incidentally the Republicans should put Craig on the ticket if they want to win elections. He has done more for the morale of farmers than anybody in agricultural history. They have felt humiliated, forgotten and belittled for some time. This smart cookie from the cow pastures and grain fields has given them the lift of lifts. (Note to the GOP—Don't let the Democrats sign him first.)

Treatment For Trees Along Road

by Jim Riley

Route 611, at least that stretch running between Stroudsburg and Tannersville, is currently in the process of undergoing a beauty treatment.

Tree surgeons—and their crews—are at work thinning trees which are located along the much traveled highway.

The thinning process not only adds to the beauty of the region, but also aids the health of the vegetation.

The work is currently progressing in the Bartonsville region.

Joseph Wertheiser's death last Saturday was received sadly by his many friends in this region.

Joe was an employee at Pocono Manor for more than 25 years and was a friend of this reporter for the same length of time.

I will never forget the hours of enjoyment and laughter this carpenter, who lived in Stroudsburg at the time of his death, made possible for this scribe during my childhood.

We join with Joe's hundreds of friends in expressing our great sympathy to his wife and children and the latter's families.

Roderick "Mac" MacLeod, Daily Record photographer, is currently enjoying a week's vacation away from the torrid daily pace of covering a news beat.

Lex Carlton, old reliable in the clutch, is taking over for "Mac" this week and is doing his usual great job.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wolfe and family, who now live in Canadensis, plan to move into their recently purchased home in Tannersville by Oct. 1.

The Wolfes recently purchased a portion of the Romberger estate.

Ed Kliner, White Heron Lake, recently returned from a fishing trip to Canada. Ed works at Patterson-Kelley.

Elmer Munch, Tannersville, last week displayed his ability on the golf course.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

Sort of nice to have a rainy afternoon, wasn't it? A day when you could sit in the house and not feel guilty about missing the sunshine outdoors. A good day to play cards or listen to music or catch up on your reading.

And speaking of music, which in one form or another always seems to fill the house when either of the children are home, I was thinking gratefully how wonderful it is that in time they outgrow rock and roll.

Well, maybe "outgrow" isn't the proper term; but at least they broaden their musical appreciation to include all kinds of music. In large part the credit must go to the Monroe County schools where music plays such a vital part.

But Community Concerts may claim a share of that credit too. Many of today's young parents had student tickets to Community Concerts during their own school years and they want their children to learn to enjoy it, too.

Of course, we're near enough New York and Philadelphia so we could go hear the best in music—if we had the money and the time, that is. But who has and who would? Well, Mrs. Levering would and did for many years, but thanks largely to her efforts and those of the unselfish people who work with her, it hasn't been necessary for so these many years.

To have the best in music brought right here is a privilege we don't always appreciate. All right, we can always have it on records, or FM radio or television; but it's not the same thing at all.

Enjoyment of music is doubled when it's shared, and tripled when it's "live". So maybe you'd better get enough memberships for the whole family this year. Particularly Pop.

The Wyckoff Shopper

"The Friendly Store"

AB Wyckoff
STROUDSBURG, PA.

Seeing me at the fountain with my pal, Betty Bartholomew, Mr. Wyckoff asked if I had heard the latest news on the Hudson River Cruise of Monday, September 23rd. "We're to have a twenty minute organ recital in the West Point Chapel at 3 o'clock," he said. "This is a very special treat we've enjoyed twice before, and it's always very popular." I imagine it would be. Certainly if I had not already decided to make the trip, THIS would sell me on the idea. What about you? . . . Many of us never mention religion, or devotion to God. As a matter of fact, the subject is—for some absurd reason—almost embarrassing to us. We act, when faith is hinted at, like a naughty child caught with one hand in the candy jar and the other in the cookie tin. Nevertheless, for all of this most of us are far more devout than we would care to have anyone know. That perhaps accounts for the ready sale of such merchandise as the beautiful wooden Madonna figurines, brass Lord's Prayer and Ten Commandment plaques, also the plaster Ten Commandment tablets in our gift department. Those Madonnas are particularly lovely, and come in several styles—one, with a chubby, wondrously fair Child in the Mother's arms. Many visitors to the Poconos have purchased them to take home as gifts; others are buying them for Christmas giving, and some are keeping them for family devotions. These are particularly suited to Catholic families, of course, but they are also works of art to be appreciated by anyone who cherishes beauty. . . . If you enjoy books about Hollywood, you may be interested in Libbie Block's new novel, "The Hills of Beverly", published at 3.50 by Doubleday. It is written in the style of the courtly memoirs of the French courts—an effective device that takes some getting accustomed to, and it has a wonderfully uncomplicated plot. Just the sort of thing you read for relaxation on a lazy autumn afternoon. . . . Which reminds me that Gypsy Rose Lee's autobiography, "Gypsy" is on the shelves of our Wyckoff book department. I'd love reading it, for in my one brief contact with this talented artist, I found her to be a real lady, and a charming one. . . . Even if it weren't so lovely, or so inexpensive, anyone can own it. I'd be tempted to write about the new line of Capri wear in our gift department. And why? Because it's by McCoy—and enjoying puns as I do, I just can't resist saying that beauty-wise it's the REAL McCoy. There are oddly shaped vases and shallow dishes, excellent for flower or fruit arrangements, and the prices are 1.50 and 1.98. I'm casting an eye on them for Christmas giving—any number of my friends would be delighted with them. I'm sure. . . . Wonder if you've been approached as yet about buying a ticket for the Graduate Sorority fashion show at the YMCA next Thursday, the 19th? Wyckoff fashions will be shown, and they are well worth seeing. As a matter of fact, I think the styles this Fall are the nicest in years—right precious, with price tags that are anything but frightening. . . . Never have I appreciated my record player half as much as this past weekend when, because of having drops in my eyes for an eye examination, I spent endless hours in a darkened room. There's more peace and comfort in music than most of us ever realize, and it's too bad we don't take more time to acquire a taste for the really fine things in this sphere. My personal feeling is that radio and TV are wonderful. . . . but a home without a record player is missing a great deal. . . . Wonder where Maggie Latta is, along about now? The host of our drapery department is spending her vacation as a vacation should be spent by getting away, from it all. Her itinerary this year will take her to California for a magical three weeks. I offered to go with her and change tires, but she didn't think I'd be much help — and she was right, the shrewdly.

Anna Diorio Bride Of George D'Alessandro

Bangor — The wedding of Miss Anna Mae Diorio, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Diorio of Roseto to George N. D'Alessandro, son of Mr. and Mrs. George D'Alessandro of Bangor, was solemnized at 10 a. m. mass at Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Church on August 31. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a dress of Chantilly lace over slipper satin with a sweetheart neckline and tiered skirt. A circle of orange blossoms held her veil of silk illusion.

She was attended by Miss Amanda Angeline of Roseto as maid of honor and Mrs. Rita DeMello, Miss Phyllis Sabetti and Miss Josephine Impicciato, as bridesmaids. The maid of honor wore orchid tulle over taffeta and the bridesmaids green net over taffeta with matching picture hats.

The bride's niece, Debra Ann Saveri as flower girl wore white net over tulle with ruffles. Jackie Lamson, cousin of the bridegroom was ringbearer.

Joseph Basso, Bangor was best man. Ushers were Eddie Mugauro, Bangor; Philip Donatelli, Roseto, and Bobby D'Alessandro, Bangor.

After a reception at the Blue Valley Farm Show, Mr. and Mrs. D'Alessandro left for a wedding trip to Florida. They are both graduates of Bangor Area High School. The bride is employed by Cascia Mills, Roseto, and the bridegroom by J. D. Morissey Co.

e. f. m. HOUSES ARE WARM

...is Yours?

More than 34 years experience in the combustion engineering field goes into the design and manufacture of all e.f.m. Furnace-Stoker Units. The entire unit (furnace, burner) is built by e.f.m., which assures you of more dependable heating at lower cost.

The e.f.m. Furnace-Stoker Unit is fully automatic. It stokes the fire, regulates the draft and removes the ashes into sealed containers. Burning the smaller-size anthracite coal, fuel costs are about half that of other fuels.

If you want a warm house with low-cost, dependable, uniform heat, see your e.f.m. dealer today.

Guard Against Heat Loss

NEVER LET furniture, draperies, books or other obstructions mask radiators or warm air ducts. If you do, you will be robbed of lots of heat.

Guard Against Waste

When sawing a piece of wood, always saw on the waste side of the line. This eliminates ending up with a piece of wood the width of the saw blade too short.

Solved Carpet Cleaning Problem

Research now has the answer to carpet and upholstery cleaning with the new product, Blue Lustre. It is completely safe for finest carpets whether woolen, rayon, nylon or cotton.

The nap is left open and fluffy as colors return to their original beauty and lustre. No residue remains to cause rapid resoling. Clean entire carpet or just spots and traffic paths with Blue Lustre and a long handle brush. One-half gallon of odorless Blue Lustre concentrate cleans three 9 x 12 rugs.

Insulation Important To Homes

MOST OWNERS want their houses insulated because of the winter fuel savings and summer comfort insulation provides, but seldom are aware that it produces an additional important saving in redecoration costs.

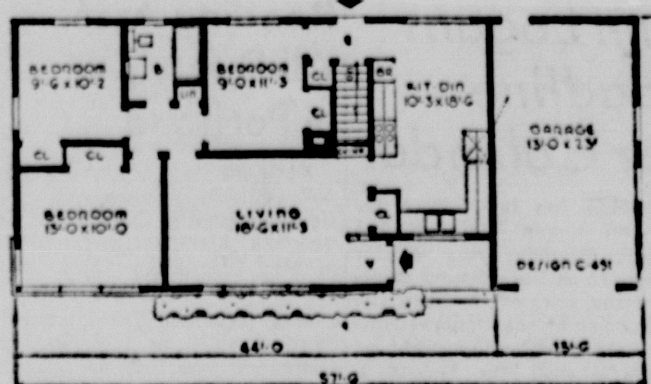

While it is impossible to set a definite dollars-and-cents figure on this saving because of varying conditions in homes, many cases have been reported where redecoration costs were reduced as much as 75 percent after walls and roof area were insulated full-thick, says the Construction Research Bureau of New York, clearing house for building information.

Science This is because lath marks do not show up as rapidly in a properly insulated house and hence the interior does not require painting and papering as often as an uninsulated house.

Science explains this condition simply. In an uninsulated house, the walls and ceilings are as much as 11 degrees colder than the air in the room. Dust-laden moisture is present in all homes at all times. When the heating plant is in operation, the dust particles follow the air.

DESIGN C-451. A pleasant combination of vertical siding and horizontal brick or stone veneer offers a contemporary look that in its simplicity, is exceedingly attractive. The large kitchen-dining area provides a view of both the front and back yards and complete access to the rest of the house and to the garage. Note the many well-placed closets throughout the house.

Not including the garage, the house has 1017 sq. ft. of floor area and 18,814 cu. ft. There is a full basement. For further information about DESIGN C-451, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn. In Canada, the Small House Planning Bureau of Canada, St. John, New Brunswick.

Window Casements Give Air Of Beauty To Home

ONE OF THE UNIQUE and interesting things about casement windows is that a group of casements seem to harmonize well with each class of construction and almost every period. Casements give a friendly air to a house, and blend beautifully in most cases.

There are steel casements and wooden casements, either of which may be used to advantage on a half-timbered house. If desired, transoms may be built over the casements and they may be fixed or allowed to open.

Out swinging casements are less likely to leak than a casement which swings into the house. In the out-swinging casement, the screen must be placed on the inside.

This may be further enhanced by installing plain glass shelves across the windows. On these, glassware interspersed with green growing plants and vines may be displayed.

In a dual-purpose room, a one-room apartment, or any room where space is at a premium, this use of a bay window provides simultaneously for storage, meal service, growing plants and display of glassware collection.

When painting knots in new wood, scrape and wipe off with turpentine any material exuded from them. Two, or better three, thin coats of orange shellac over these cleaned surfaces will protect subsequent coats of paint from discoloration.

Important To Plan Laundry

WORK in the home laundry is much more pleasant and easier if this place is planned rather than just putting the equipment off in a dark corner.

Since the average laundry is in the basement, additional light is essential. Use daylight fluorescent tubes for easy seeing and make the space around the washer, ironer and other equipment gay with color. Put the equipment as near a window as possible with the ironer directly beneath the opening.

Paint the walls pastel green for coolness. Hang narrow, straight, moisture-resistant plastic curtains with bright red figures beside the window, not over it. A few bright red decalcomanias on the wall add more color. Cover the concrete floor with asphalt tile in light buff, green, yellow or cream. Use contrasting black or dark brown tiles of this moisture-resistant flooring to create your own interesting floor pattern of triangles, squares, rectangles or stripes.

Window A bay window in the living-dining room can serve as an attractive and convenient space saver. Build into it a sill-height closed cabinet with front flush with the wall on either side of the bay. The top of the cabinet, being sill-height, will serve admirably as a sideboard or buffet table, while in the closed cabinet may be stored glassware, dishes and table linens.

Near the bay, place a trestle table, rectangular library table or drop-leaf table. This can be used for dining, yet will double for sitting-room purposes between meals.

The top of the cabinet in the bay may hold pieces of hand-made American glassware or clear crystal or in shades of ruby red, amethyst and topaz. Light coming through the windows will play dramatically on the glassware and create a beautiful focal point in the room.

When painting knots in new wood, scrape and wipe off with turpentine any material exuded from them. Two, or better three, thin coats of orange shellac over these cleaned surfaces will protect subsequent coats of paint from discoloration.

Wiring Important Factor

EFFICIENT, convenient and economical service from electric lights and appliances is possible only when the wiring is adequate and with the almost daily development of new electrical facilities, complete wiring should be given top consideration in home planning.

The house that is not sufficiently wired will soon be outmoded and its value reduced, architects declare.

Entrance An entrance cable must be provided to admit enough electricity for future as well as present needs, plus enough circuits of large enough wire and plenty of outlets and switches in the right locations. All too often a single outlet is placed right where it is covered by a heavy piece of furniture and this is a sure sign of thoughtless planning. One of the newer developments to overcome this is a wired strip with an outlet every two or three feet to be placed on top of the baseboard.

why is a weathermaker home so much more comfortable?

A Weathermaker Home is equipped with the famous Carrier Weathermaker Air Conditioner. In summer it uses safe, dependable electric refrigeration to keep the entire house cool and comfortable, no matter how hot the weather. ## 14 Student Teachers Placed ASSIGNMENT OF 14 local men and women to student-teaching posts by East Stroudsburg State Teachers College was announced yesterday.

A list issued by Dr. Nathan G. Meyer, director of student teaching, showed the following assignments:

John Loh, Bushkill, will be student teaching in elementary at Middle Smithfield-Bushkill schools and in secondary at Delaware Valley Joint High School near Milford. He is a student in the health education curriculum at the college.

Workers Plan Drive For Members

COMMUNITY Concert workers had their first opportunity to meet with Gerald Wax, Columbia Artists representative this week.

At a dessert meeting held in the Penn-Stroud Hotel local workers heard Wax describe plans for the membership drive now being carried on. Wax will supervise the campaign.

Carroll All, president of the local association, was in charge of the meeting. Other officers introduced were: Dr. Donald Corson, vice president; Mrs. Mildred Allen, secretary; Mrs. Ann George, secretary of the campaign; Lorraine Flaxler, treasurer and Mrs. William Levering, campaign chairman.

The first day of the drive (yesterday) was described at headquarters in the Penn-Stroud lobby as "normal". Reports came in both by telephone and in person from workers.

Bank Applies For Spot In Mt. Pocono

THE FIRST National Bank and Trust Co. of Scranton has filed an application with the Comptroller of the Currency for permission to establish a branch office in Mount Pocono. This new banking office will be a relocation of The First National Bank's present Tobyhanna office.

When the Tobyhanna office of The First National Bank of Scranton was opened, it was so located to serve the banking needs of the people in the Pocono Mountain area, as well as those in the U.S. Signal Corps Depot.

In 1954 a separate banking facility was established at the Depot by The First National Bank of Scranton leaving the Tobyhanna office to serve the needs in the Tobyhanna area. Now the bank believes the most central point from which to serve all the communities in this fast growing resort area, is Mount Pocono. For this reason an application has been submitted to establish a branch of The First National Bank of Scranton there.

The banking facility at the Signal Corps Depot will continue operating, as it is presently, and the branch office in Tobyhanna will be discontinued.

Holy Name To Meet

HOLY NAME Society of St. Matthew's Church will hold its first meeting of the new season tonight at 8 in the church school auditorium.

Guest speaker will be Rev. Edward T. Sullivan, director of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, Third Regional Congress. It will be held Sept. 20-21-22 in Scranton.

Topic

Father Sullivan's topic will be the Congress and its meaning to laymen as well as the clergy. He will explain the workings of the conference, its separate sessions designed to meet the needs of individuals attending it and the overall aims of the Confraternity.

Forward

In a forward to the volume, former Governor John S. Fine writes, in a letter addressed to teachers:

"Today our liberty and our freedoms are threatened as never before.

"Communist Russia reputedly is capable of attacking us if she so desires. Experience has demonstrated that preparation and proper training greatly reduce casualties and damage resulting from attacks. For that reason, I exhort the teachers of Pennsylvania to cooperate with the Civil Defense program set up for schools in the enclosed manual."

"I look upon Civil Defense training and planning as one of our finest forms of insurance for survival. Be trained and be prepared in Civil Defense. I trust that we may never have to put it into practice."

The manual will be augmented by films and other instruction during the week.

Committee Nominates Candidates

FORREST R. SMITH, of Stroudsburg, a member of the State Democratic Executive Committee, attended a meeting of the committee in Harrisburg yesterday.

Special elections will be held in two sections of the state to fill vacancies that have occurred since the primaries. The committee met yesterday to nominate Democratic candidates for the offices.

Oreland
Glen W. Preston, of Oreland, was nominated to run for Congress from the 13th Pennsylvania District. The vacancy resulted from the resignation of Rep. Samuel K. McConnell on Sept. 1.

The committee also nominated Richard Martin, Martinsburg, as the Democratic candidate for the State House of Representatives. The vacancy was caused by the death of Assemblyman Daniel H. Erb, also of Blair County.

Expresses Hope
KUALA LUMPUR, Sept. 10 (AP) — Lt. Gen. Sir Roger Bowyer took his leave as the last British anti-Communist commander in Malaya with the expressed hope that the Reds would give up now that Malaya is independent.

Theme Listed For Luncheon Conference Of Health, Welfare Agencies In State

"CREATIVE TEAMWORK" is the theme for a luncheon conference planned for Friday, Sept. 20, in Bethlehem for health and welfare agencies and interested citizens throughout Eastern Pennsylvania.

The theme will concern the rehabilitation of people afflicted with sickness or handicaps.

Speaker for the conference which will be held in Hotel Bethlehem, will be the nation's outstanding authority in rehabilitation of cardiac cripples, Dr. Frederick A. Whitehouse, national director of rehabilitation for the American Heart Assn.

The program, co-sponsored by the Lehigh Valley Social Service Exchange and the Lehigh Valley Heart Assn., has been designed to show how agencies, private and public, can use the "team method" in working together. Major emphasis will be on the utilization of the resources of the community in helping to make productive citizens out of people who are now sidelined because of misconceptions concerning their ailments.

Reservations for the luncheon meeting, open to all interested persons whether they are affiliated with public or private health and welfare agencies or are interested in the problem, are being accepted by Miss Ella Siegfried, executive secretary of the Social Service Exchange, 68 East Broad St., Bethlehem.

Find Lost Ship

PERTIL, Sept. 10 (AP) — Two west Australian skin divers, Alan Robinson and Bruce Phillip, believe they have found the wreck of the Dutch ship Gilt Dragon that sank in 1656 with a loss of 117 lives and gold and silver worth $2,800,000.

Director Appointed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP) — Karl S. Brown, a native of Allentown, Pa., has been appointed director of public affairs for the Urban Renewal Administration. It was announced today. It is a new post.

Nelson A. Rockefeller

'Angel' May Save Dodgers

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)—Hopes for keeping the Dodgers in Brooklyn reached a new high today with the announcement by Nelson A. Rockefeller that he has been actively seeking since early August to keep the defending National League champions from moving to Los Angeles.

The announcement followed a disclosure by the Associated Press that Rockefeller had expressed an interest in the Dodgers and had offered to help the team build a stadium in downtown Brooklyn, the area desired by club President Walter O'Malley.

The keep-the-Dodgers-in-Brooklyn drive received another boost when city officials learned they could legally condemn the land desired by the Dodgers, then sell it to the club for resale as the site for a stadium. O'Malley has repeatedly said he would keep the Dodgers in Brooklyn only if he could obtain specified land in the Flatbush and Atlantic avenues

Legal Verdict In a key legal verdict, corporate tion counsel Peter Campbell Brown notified Mayor Robert F. Wagner that the city has the right to condemn a site near the Flatbush avenue terminal of the Long Island Railroad and sell it to the ball club as a stadium site. It has been estimated that condemnation cost for the area would come to about $5 million.

O'Malley is expected to receive a definite answer Sept. 19 when he meets with officials of the Brooklyn Sports Center Authority. The news of Rockefeller's interest in the Dodgers was no surprise to Mayor Norris Poulson of Los Angeles, who has been trying for several months to lure the Dodgers to California. Even before the Rockefeller announcement, Mayor Poulson told the AP he had been informed that Rockefeller "is the angel" who would purchase the site for a new Dodger stadium in Brooklyn.

Mayor Aftand "If it is true that Mr. Rockefeller has entered the picture," he said, "I'm very much afraid we don't have much of a chance to get the Dodgers. We want to make 'angels' out of the 'Bums' but we can't be Santa Claus like some of these big names. Mr. Rockefeller can do what neither the City of New York nor the City of Los Angeles is in position to do. A government has limitations, you know."

Mayor Poulson added, however, he had not given up hope and would continue to try to bring the Dodgers to California. The mayor is in New York attending a national conference of mayors.

"The residents of Los Angeles want the Dodgers," he said. They will be very disappointed if they don't get them but even if they don't I'm sure Los Angeles will have major league baseball in the near future.

Mayor Poulson also expressed personal doubt that the New York Giants would move West without the Dodgers.

had earlier talked with O'Malley.

Door Not Closed "Mr. McClellan said that Mr. O'Malley told him that the door was 'not closed yet.' I intend to talk with Mr. O'Malley either tonight or tomorrow and I think I'll be in position to say definitely whether the Dodgers will come to Los Angeles or remain in Brooklyn."

Rockefeller, in a prepared statement, said he has had several conferences during the past six weeks with O'Malley and his associates, Commissioner of Baseball Ford Frick and National League President Warren Giles.

"So far," he said, "nothing has developed in our conversations to lend us positive encouragement. I wish we had made more progress in keeping the Dodgers in New York."

Rockefeller disclosed that, as a civic move, he was even willing to buy the Dodgers, an offer, incidentally, which was rejected by O'Malley.

Collegian Wettlaufer Upsets Billy Joe Patton

BROOKLINE, Mass., Sept. 10 (AP)—Ward Wettlaufer, a chubby collegian from Williamsburg, N.Y., sank a 20-foot birdie putt on the 18th hole and then outscrambled Billy Joe Patton for an upset extra-hole victory today in the second round of the National Amateur Golf Tournament.

In a stirring climax to a long, tedious succession of 62 matches, the 21-year-old senior from Hamilton College eliminated the player who had been picked to succeed the indelible Marvie Ward Jr. of San Francisco as America's champion.

One down going to the 410-yard 18th, Wettlaufer, a round-faced boy with a mop of black hair, sent his second shot to the fringe of the green—to the left and above the hole, leaving him a tricky sidehill assignment. Patton punched his shot to 12 feet, well inside.

Comes Back The match looked over at this point. But Wettlaufer snaked in the difficult putt, and his face lit up like a Christmas tree. Taut and serious, Patton putted, but missed.

On the 335-yard 19th, Wettlaufer hooked his drive into the rough at the left and Patton, who has a proclivity for such things, sliced his tee shot onto a mound of hard ground and gravel under a bunch of trees.

He had a shot for the green but his wedge sent the ball into an embankment and it took him three to reach the green, eight feet away.

Wettlaufer's approach was to the center of the green, some 15 feet from the cup. The New York boy made a go for it, but the ball dribbled eight inches past.

Deadly serious, the normally wisecracking Patton first replaced his cut-up ball on the green, then measured his assignment for minutes. The ball failed to break and missed by two inches. That was Patton's exit.

Dulles Hopes To Lift Ban On Red China

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today he hopes to find a way to admit Red Chinese athletes to the United States for the 1960 Winter Olympics in California.

He told a news conference the Eisenhower administration is trying very hard to abide by the Olympic Games concept that there be no discrimination against nations because of race, religion or politics.

Opposes Butler Dulles commented on the problem when asked what he thought of the view of Sen. Butler (R-Md.) that the Red Chinese athletes should be barred from Olympic competition.

Butler sent a letter to Dulles urging the Reds be ruled out on grounds their participation "would be used as a potent propaganda weapon" and be inconsistent with American policy of denying American recognition to the Peiping regime.

As the man said, "I'm from Missouri. You've got to show me." To us, Dr. John Lim did.

173 Theaters Set For Ray-Carm

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)—A record number of 173 theaters in 129 cities already have contracted for the closed circuit telecast of the Ray Robinson-Carmen Basilio middleweight title fight at Yankee Stadium, Sept. 21, a theater network official said today.

Nathan L. Halpern, president of Theatre Network Television, Inc., said that requests still are being received from other theaters. He said the theaters have 503,029 seats available.

Previous high for a closed circuit theater telecast was for the Rocky Marciano-Archie Moore heavyweight title fight, Sept. 21, 1955 when 133 theaters in 93 cities carried the show.

Army Snaps Rifle Jinx, Tops Marines

CAMP PERRY, Ohio, Sept. 10 (AP)—For the first time in five years, U. S. Army shooters topped the Marine Corps in the national trophy team rifle match here today with a new record score of 1,490 points out of a possible 1,500 for the six-man team.

Marine Corps teams took second, third and fourth places, with 1,435, 1,432, and 1,431. Another Army team finished fifth, also with 1,431, but could not match the V-ring count of the fourth place Marines. The Marines got 117 shots in the tie-breaking circle, while the Army team got only 106.

Break Record All five teams managed to break the old record of 1,428 points in this service prestige match, sponsored by the Department of the Army. The old record was set last year by the Marines.

The six members of the team which scored the first victory for the Army since the matches at Fort Benning, Ga., in 1952, are: 1st Lt. Richard G. Hinkle, of San Francisco; 1st Lt. Alexander D. Marchetti, of Batavia, N. Y.; 1st Lt. Charles E. Orr Jr., of Athens, Ohio; Spec. 2nd Class John Roka, of Freemansburg, Pa.; M. Sgt. Willis L. Powell of Weston, Okla., and M. Sgt. Eugene F. Stradlin, of Marshall, Okla.

Showron Added To Injury List

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)—First baseman Bill Showron joined the New York Yankee injured list today, pulling a back muscle as he removed an air conditioner at his home.

The right-handed slugger took Hank Bauer's place on the injured list. Bauer, out for 10 days with a fractured thumb, returned to right field for tonight's game with the Cleveland Indians.

Center fielder Mickey Mantle was back in uniform after a four-day hospital stay because of shin splints, but couldn't run well enough to play. Catcher Yogi Berra also was on the sidelines again with a sprained right thumb.

PML To Hold Meet Monday

Tannersville will be the host team.

Series Opponents?

Spahn, Turley Lead Majors Loop In Earned Run Ratings

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)—Southpaw Warren Spahn of the Milwaukee Braves and righthander Bob Turley of the New York Yankees, who quite possibly may be the opposing pitchers in the opening game of the World Series next month, lead the major leagues in the earned run ratings today.

Spahn, who won the National League championship in 1947 with a 2.33 ERA and in 1953 with a 2.10, again heads his circuit with a 2.75 mark. In his last 63 innings, the veteran has yielded only 10 earned runs for a 1.43 average.

Spahn has won 19 games and lost 8 and has pitched 4 shutouts. He has been a 20-game winner seven times.

NL Wide Open With less than three weeks remaining in the regular season, the National League competition is wide open and at least six pitchers stand a good chance of winning the title.

Johnny Podres, Brooklyn's leading left-hander, is a 16-5 runner-up with a 2.71 ERA. He leads bow

Fitness Unit Fails To Find Simple Plan

WEST POINT, N.Y., Sept. 10 (AP)—A group appointed by President Eisenhower to recommend ways of improving the physical fitness of the nation's youth ended two days of conferences today but failed to produce any simple plan of action.

Indeed, some members asked for more facts. They complained there was no scientific yardstick with which to measure youth fitness.

Six subcommittee reports were accepted by the presidential commission as a basis for general recommendations to be made to President Eisenhower in about a month.

Program Needed These repeated views that there is need for a youth fitness program at the local community level and turned away from the setting up of a federal bureau to direct any toughening up program.

Vice President Richard Nixon accepted the committee's summaries and said he hoped the final report to Eisenhower would contain a "1-2-3" plan for cities to follow.

Nixon is chairman of the President's Council on Youth Fitness, a group composed of five Cabinet members appointed when Eisenhower last year received reports of national youth softness. An advisory committee of citizens from fields of recreation, physical education, medicine, government, public health, sports and youth programs was appointed. It met for the first time yesterday and today with the council.

Steelers Buy Colts' Girard

LIGONIER, Pa., Sept. 10 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers today purchased Earl "Jug" Girard, 36-year-old halfback, from the Baltimore Colts for an undisclosed price.

As the Steelers resumed practice to prepare for their fifth National Football League exhibition next Saturday night at Pittsburgh against the Chicago Bears, Coach Buddy Parker also released two players. They were halfback Curley Johnson, formerly of the University of Houston, and fullback Lionel Reed from Central State of Wilberforce, Ohio.

Parker also announced the signing of Boris Dimancheff as his seventh assistant coach. Dimancheff, an ex-NFL halfback, will be used mainly to scout college games and line up players for the Steelers.

Girard, now in his 10th season, was the Green Bay Packers No. 1 draft choice in 1948. He was traded to Detroit Lions in 1952 and sold to the Colts last winter.

Urges Fight Ban For Five Years

DENVER, Sept. 10 (AP)—A Denver district judge told the National Boxing Assn. today that professional boxing "has taken the 10 count" and should be banned for five years.

The judge, William A. Black, blasted the national boxing setup, its leaders and philosophy and charged that "gangsters are cunning in their penetration of the game."

Black made his remarks in an address to the NBA, holding its 39th annual convention here. The parley is being attended by 104 delegates from throughout the United States, Canada and Latin America.

'Sugar' Set To Challenge Boxing Unit

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 10 (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson said today he plans to take the New York State Athletic Commission to court after his fight with Carmen Basilio to prove it does not have the right "to compel a fighter to give away his constitutional rights to a promoter."

Robinson, who was in town for an exhibition on tonight's Harold Johnson-Wayne Bethea fight card at Convention Hall, said he would challenge the commission's official contract form for fights.

"I think it's time somebody made the commission show cause that it has a right to compel a fighter to give away his constitutional rights to a promoter," he said at a luncheon. He said he would take the action for the benefit of "others who come after me."

Won Benefit Robinson won that benefit for himself recently in a dispute over television income with the International Boxing Club. He threatened to call off his Sept. 23 mid-dleweight title defense against Carmen Basilio in New York unless the IBC met certain of the fighter's demands.

The IBC, after a meeting with the commission, yielded on the theater TV arrangements and guaranteed Sugar Ray a minimum of $255,000 from that revenue source. The new agreement also provided a $110,000 guarantee for challenger Basilio.

Bosox Drop White Sox Further Off

BOSTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—The Boston Red Sox wavered in the ninth inning tonight but defeated the White Sox 7-4, dropping the second place Chicagoans six games in back of the American League-leading New York Yankees, who were rained out.

Tom Red Sox, with their ace, Don Brewer pitching, carried a 7-1 lead into the ninth.

Before the game ended with Ron Jackson popping a foul to Mickey Vernon, the White Sox chased Brewer and two successors, scored three runs and left three men on base.

Ike Delock eventually quelled the uprising for Brewer's 16th triumph. He lost 12.

Teh home Sox jumped into their 7-1 lead in the third when they scored five times, chasing the starting and losing Bob Keegan. Three of those runs came on Jimmy Piersall's 17th homer.

Yanks, Tribe Rained Out

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)—Rain delayed, interrupted and finally postponed tonight's game between the American League-leading New York Yankees and the Cleveland Indians. A double-admission, day-night doubleheader was scheduled for tomorrow.

The Indians led 2-0 when the game, which started 17 minutes late because of rain, finally was called after a 45-minute interruption in the fourth inning. The game also had been interrupted for 20 minutes in the third frame, when the Tribe scored off right-hander Bob Turley on a walk, Dick Williams' triple and Bobby Avila's single.

The Yankees got their third hit off southpaw Don Moss when Elston Howard doubled to open the fourth.

The Yankees picked up a half game for a six-game lead as the second place Chicago White Sox lost 7-4 at Boston. That reduced the Yankees' magic number to 12—any combination of Yankee victories and White Sox defeats totaling 12 gives New York the pennant.

Commercial 'B' Opens Today

COMMERCIAL "B" Bowling League will open its 1957-58 season today at Harmon's Recreation, East Stroudsburg, starting at 7 p.m.

Banks' 35th, 36th Leads Cubs Past Brooklyn, 9-2

CHICAGO, Sept. 10 (AP)—Ernie Banks hammered a pair of home runs, good for four runs to fuse a 13-hit Chicago Cub attack today that overwhelmed the third-place Brooklyn Dodgers 9-2.

The Cubs scored in three-run clusters in the first, third and sixth innings while pounding four Dodger pitchers and backing rookie Dick Drott to a 14-11 season record.

Dale Long's two-run double keyed a first inning blast of three hits and a walk that spelled the end of starter Sandy Koufax.

Banks slammed his 35th homer to lead off the third. Bobby Morgan made it another big inning with a two-run homer, his third.

The Cubs scored three in the sixth. Lee Walls and Walt Moryn singled. Then Banks hit his 36th homer into the left field stands.

The blow was Banks' 10th home run against Brooklyn this year and gave him 21 runs batted in against the Dodgers.

Drott's shutout was spoiled in the sixth when Gil Hodges doubled and came home on Cino Gimoli's single.

Drott was touched for another run in the ninth after filling the bases twice on a single and three walks. He became the first Cub pitcher to go the route against Brooklyn this season.

Redlegs Top Giants, 4-1

CINCINNATI, Sept. 10 (AP)—The three-hit pitching of Brooks Lawrence and a two-run homer by rookie Joe Taylor tonight helped hoist Cincinnati's Redlegs to a 4-1 victory over New York's Giants.

Johnny Antonelli, crafty Giant southpaw, held the Reds to two scattered hits until the sixth inning.

Then Johnny Temple walked and Taylor, brought up from the Reds' Seattle farm club, whacked his second homer over the left field wall.

Antonelli settled down and throttled the Reds' efforts to turn the rally into a major breakthrough.

Penn's last victory in an Intercollegiate Rowing Regatta varsity race came in 1900.

Flu Cancels Cal. Florida Grid Tilt

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Sept. 10 (AP)—The Sept. 20 football game between the University of Florida and the University of California at Los Angeles has been canceled because of an influenza epidemic among the Florida players. The game was scheduled for Los Angeles.

Bob Woodruff, Florida head coach and athletic director, said he and UCLA Athletic Director Wilbur Jones are considering rescheduling the game at the end of the season.

Campbell Out To Snap Record

CANANDAIGUA, N. Y., Sept. 10 (AP)—Donald Campbell announced today that he would remain on Lake Canandaigua until he has broken his own water speed record of 225.63 miles per hour.

Campbell brought his jet powered Bluebird II here from Toronto, where he had exhibited it at the Canadian National Exhibition.

Johnson Unanimous Ring Victor

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 10 (AP)—Harold Johnson, Philadelphia light heavyweight contender, won a unanimous decision over Wayne Bethea, New York heavyweight, at Convention Hall tonight.

The 10-round bout was the headline on the first major fight card in Philadelphia since Johnson's "doped orange" fiasco with Julio Mederos May 6, 1955.

Johnson, scaling 181 to Bethea's 197 1/2, received the verdict by the same margin from each of the three officials—48 points to 44 under the NBA five-point must system.

Betha pressed hard all the way, but Johnson kept him missing at long range, held his own at close quarters and scored his winning points with frequent sharp combinations.

Once Johnson caught the New Yorker coming in with five stunning shots in swift succession, Bethea failed to land one telling blow.

State Gives Approval To Incorporation

SECRETARY of the Commonwealth has approved incorporation of Sommers Ribbon Co., Inc., at Burson and Harris Sts., East Stroudsburg.

J. L. Cohen, 629 Main St., Stroudsburg, listed as one of the three incorporators, said last night that the change is one in name only.

Names

He said there will be no substantial change in the operations of the business. The other two incorporators are Louis Sommers, 278 N. Courtland St., and Irving Sommers, 288 N. Courtland St., both East Stroudsburg.

The charter identifies the new corporation as approved to "manufacture, buy, sell, deal in, fabrics, textiles, ribbons and like products."

Reds Offer Congratulations

HONG KONG, Sept. 10 (AP)—Peiping radio reported Red China's Vice Chairman Chu Teh congratulated the more than 1,200 delegates to the third National Women's Congress at Peiping for women's achievement of equality with men in all fields of work.

"Since the previous congress four years ago," he added, "the unprecedented social change has ended the age-old enslavement of Chinese women."

Water Main Repaired On Main Street

A BROKEN water main in W. Main St. near Pocono Creek, which deprived area homes of water service for about six hours early yesterday, was repaired shortly before 6 a.m.

William A. Curnow, manager of the Stroudsburg Municipal Authority, said service was restored to all homes in the area.

He said cause of the break had not been determined. The break was discovered by Jack Tretheway, assistant borough police chief, about midnight Monday.

Residents On Jury Service

NEWFOUNDLAND — Dreher and Sterling Township residents have been named to serve on October juries at Honesdale after having been selected by Jury Commissioners John Foster and Cecil Box, and Sheriff W. G. Williams.

"Each of its lines is original"

"Each new feature is important"

Originality is written in the elegant sweeping lines and vertical grille of this Edsel Citation 4-door Hardtop.

Its big V-8

Edsel Engines are the newest in the world

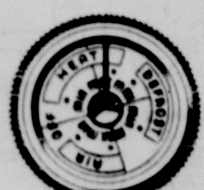

The Edsel 400 and the Edsel 475 have a 10.5 to 1 compression ratio, develop 400 and 475 foot-pounds of torque, 303 and 345 horsepower. The Edsel acts the way it looks.

It shifts itself

electrically from the steering wheel hub

Only the Edsel offers you exclusive Teletouch Drive. Both your hands stay at the wheel while you just touch a button. Teletouch does the rest—smoothly, surely, electrically.

It features more

new conveniences than any other car

Among the many new Edsel ideas are: one simple dial (above) for adjusting heat and ventilation—a light to warn when oil is a quart low—a trunk release at the driver's seat.
